CLUB WOMEN ACTIVE

PROGRAM AT G. A. R. HALL—MISS STEVENS RETURNS—OTHER TROPICO NEWS NOTES

Another interesting program was presented by Mrs. Harry E. Bowman, chairman of the program committee of the Tropico Thursday Afternoon club, when the club met Thursday afternoon in the G. A. R. hall for the regular semi-monthly gathering. Mrs. Charles A. Barker was unanimously elected president and Miss Cora Hickman vice-president of the club for 1915-1916. Mrs. Nanno Woods gave a talk relative to the proposed organization of a horticultural society for Glendale and Tropico, speaking of the benefits to be derived from such an organization.

It was decided to hold the club luncheon at G. A. R. hall Thursday, June 17, and each member, as well as each club guest, pay twenty-five cents per plate. Members attending and those desiring to bring their friends, will kindly communicate with Mrs. J. Herbert Smith, chairman of the hospitality committee.

Mrs. Leigh Bancroft, Miss Litta Belle Hibben and Mrs. E. F. Tholen were elected as trustees of the club.

Mrs. A. J. Barton of Los Angeles, who is prominently identified with the jail work of that city and actively engaged in the rescue work, delivered a splendid address relative to the need of women in our courts of justice. Mrs. Barton is a most convincing and forcible speaker and her address was most keenly appreciated.

Mrs. Nanno Woods and Mrs. Ella Richardson each spoke along lines that are for the spiritual and moral uplift of humanity and were accorded a hearty applause.

Dr. Jessie A. Russell, who is always a most delightful speaker, gave a fine talk on "Resume of Legislation Pertaining to Women." The program closed by Mrs. A. J. Van Wie rendering two very delightful solos in her sweet and unassuming manner that is so pleasing to her audience. Mrs. W. M. Crawford accompanied Mrs. Van Wie.

Dainty refreshments in pink and white were served in the banquet-room, which, like the auditorium, was decorated in pink and white artistically arranged with the ferns.

The hostesses for the afternoon and who extended generous hospitality so lavishly consisted of Mrs. Edward H. Weston, Mrs. Ella W. Richardson, Miss Elsie Anderson, Mrs. John A. Logan and Mrs. C. M. Turck. Among the club guests who enjoyed the program and the pleasant afternoon were Mrs. W. S. Fleming of Topeka, Kansas; Mrs. M. Lincoln, Los Angeles; Mrs. W. P. Lunn, Greenville, Mich., and Mrs. W. M. Crawford of Tropico.

The club luncheon which will close the programs for this year, will be in charge of Mrs. J. Herbert Smith, chairman of the hospitality committee, and her able assistants.

After a delightful visit of six months as the guest of Mrs. W. H. Kimball and other former residents of Illinois, Miss Emma Stevens will leave for her home in Pecatonica, Ills., shortly. Miss Stevens will be accompanied as far as San Francisco enroute to her eastern home by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. C. Harry Woolsey, where all will enjoy the exposition and then see Miss Stevens safely homeward bound. She has many friends and acquaintances who are loathe to have her return home and all wish for her a safe and pleasant journey with a speedy return to California and especially to Tropico and Glendale.

Through the untiring efforts of Mrs. E. V. Bacon, one of the directors of the Tropico municipal playgrounds, Miss Vera McPherson has been secured as story teller for the children and will be at the playgrounds Saturday afternoon, June 5, from 2:30 to 3:30. Miss McPherson, who will be graduated from the State Normal this month, comes very highly recommended as a gifted story teller and it is urged that all children be present and enjoy the stories Miss McPherson will tell.

Mrs. Leigh Bancroft will entertain with a card party at her home, 119 South Brand boulevard, Thursday afternoon, June 10. This social event will be given for the benefit of the Tropico Thursday Afternoon club.

Mrs. W. S. Fleming arrived from Topeka, Kans., the first of the week and will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Leigh Bancroft of South Brand boulevard, for an indefinite period.

Miss Eula Richardson has returned from a delightful two weeks' visit at Palo Alto, San Francisco and Sacramento.

Mrs. Wayland Brown of Gardena avenue is entertaining as her house guest her mother, Mrs. M. Lincoln of Los Angeles.

DRYS RETURN

The large delegation that went from Southern California to the "dry" convention in Fresno has returned. There were 165 representatives from the southern cities who went up to the northern town in a special train. Among those returning were Mrs. Hattie E. Gaylord, Mr. H. V. Harrell, Mr. and Mrs. Braly, Mr. J. N. McGillis, K. C. Siple, G. Cleaver, the Rev. B. Johnson, Dr. Lucas, A. J. Lowry and Prof. Dungan, all of Glendale.

This was one of the largest conventions of this kind ever held. No fewer than 636 delegates were present. Congressman Randall, after withdrawing his name as chairman of the day in favor of ex-Lieut.-Gov. Wallace, was requested to escort the chairman to the chair, after which he himself was elected vice-chairman.

Two amendments were presented. Many delegates from Southern California withheld their votes from both for conscientious reasons. However, the two amendments will be voted for in 1916. The first of those amendments provides for closing the saloons Jan. 1, 1918; the second abolishes the wholesale trade and manufacture of liquor Jan. 1, 1920.

KALEM COMPANY

Activity is the order of the day at the home of the Kalem Moving Picture company. The studio on Verdugo road is a scene of busy life these days. Mr. Horne, the general manager, is out on the railroad staging some exciting episodes in the great drama, "The Girl and the Angel," the new drama that deals with the fortunes and adventures of a broken-down theatrical troupe.

In connection with the same play a number of scenes were taken of the interior of the Republic theater in Los Angeles on Thursday evening.

K. K. K. CLUB

After a most successful season the sessions of the K. K. K. club have come to a close for the summer months. This strong ladies' organization has accomplished much excellent social work throughout the past season.

The Rev. Father O'Neill of the Holy Family Catholic church, who has been quite seriously ill for some time with rheumatism and has been undergoing treatment at the Sisters' hospital, Los Angeles, returned home this afternoon completely recovered.

SANITARIUM MANAGEMENT ENTERTAINS

GLENDALE PEOPLE AND SANITARIUM OFFICIALS ARE BROUGHT INTO CLOSER TOUCH BY DEMONSTRATION AND EXPLANATION OF METHODS

The management of the Glendale sanitarium and the professional staff of that institution were hosts to a number of Glendale citizens Thursday evening, June 3. The invited guests assembled in the parlors of the sanitarium at 6:30 and after a few minutes had been spent in having the guests become acquainted with one another, the ladies under the direction of the head nurse, Miss Lillian Santee, and the gentlemen under the direction of Dr. Thomason were conducted to the various departments of the building, including the operating rooms, the X-ray room and the bath treatment rooms. A few minutes were spent in witnessing an excellent drill given by the nurses under the direction of Miss Perle Olds.

The drill grounds are located on the west side of the sanitarium building and are substantially prepared with a very smooth concrete floor. The exercise was given with great exactness and was the cause of much favorable comment on the part of the guests. Upon re-assembling in the parlors the nurses gave a practical demonstration of bandaging. This exercise was accomplished with great precision, the wrapping and the unwrapping of the bandages being done in time with music.

In the X-ray room Dr. Jones, the operator of this excellent machine, said he would be glad to have any of the guests stand behind the screen that he might give a practical demonstration of the working of the machine. Some one present recalled the fact that it had been often said that City Manager T. W. Watson has no heart and that this would be a good time, in the presence of so many Glendale citizens, to ascertain if the statement is founded upon the truth. Mr. Watson volunteered to be a subject for examination providing they confined the examination to the heart and did not reveal to the public the absence of the brain. Upon taking his place behind the screen the presence of Mr. Watson's heart and the beating of the same were very distinctly observed, so henceforth it will be very clearly understood by all the citizens of Glendale that the city manager really has a heart.

The hour of 8:30 having arrived, Manager Dr. H. V. Lucas invited the guests to the dining-room, where had been prepared a very sumptuous repast complying with the dietetic rules of the sanitarium. The guests were seated at the tables by call of names, making it possible for strangers to be seated together and thus aiding in promoting a more thorough acquaintanceship. After Elder Marvin had asked a blessing, the following menu was served:

Fruit Compote Vegetable Bouillon
Croutons

Nut Fillets
Baked Green Pea Puree, Tomato Sauce
Mashed Potatoes, Brown Gravy
Asparagus Tips

Olives Stuffed Tomato Nectar
Sherbet

Chocolate Cake Mixed Nuts
Raisins
Sanitas Chocolates Stuffed Dates

Coffee Jelly Tarts
Cream and Sugar

White Bread Butter Graham Bread
Fruit Crackers

At the close of the banquet hour Mr. E. S. Comstock, serving in the capacity of toastmaster, stated briefly the object of the event and announced that Dr. Lucas, manager of the sanitarium, would give a further explanation why they had thus come together. Dr. Lucas said that while the sanitarium was known of and given great publicity in all parts of the United States, there are many people in Glendale who are not familiar with the merits of the institution and for some time the management has had the question under consideration of getting more closely in touch with the people of Glendale and the coming together of a few people on this occasion is only a forerunner of what will follow. Dr. Lucas spoke very highly of Glendale as an up-to-date city and a place that the sanitarium officials always mention with pride.

The toastmaster in referring to the question of the sanitarium being a means of advertising Glendale in distant states said he is aware that that is very true; that in his visits to the East he has found that when anyone asks for the location of Los Angeles, they are told that it is a city located in California seven miles south of the Glendale sanitarium.

The toastmaster next called upon T. W. Watson, city manager, to give his knowledge of the growth of the sanitarium. Mr. Watson being one of the old settlers of Glendale, was able to speak intelligently of the gradual, steady, upward growth of this institution and stated with considerable emphasis that the Glendale sanitarium is one of the city's best and most valuable assets and he, too, spoke particularly of the great publicity given our city on account of the sanitarium.

Dr. D. D. Comstock, medical superintendent, was the next speaker announced by the toastmaster. He defined very clearly the function of a sanitarium, stating that the work of a sanitarium is not so much to aid in making sick people well as it is in keeping well people from becoming sick. Dr. Comstock called especial attention to the methods of treatment under the direction of physicians and nurses of the sanitarium and it is his opinion that there is a possibility of more good being accomplished by the Glendale sanitarium than there is at present if the people can be made familiar with the benefits derived from the various treatments. Dr. Comstock, too, is a firm believer in a bright future for Glendale and thinks it to the interest of the sanitarium and the citizens to co-operate.

J. C. Sherer was announced by the toastmaster as being one of the very early settlers of Glenda'e and one who, too, had observed the growth of the sanitarium from its beginning. Mr. Sherer's address recalled the fact that he and other citizens of Glendale at a community meeting some seven or eight years ago had conjectured upon the question of future possibilities for Glendale and all failed to place estimates of Glendale's future as high as it should have been placed. The records of increased population and increased valuation from year to year show that the city is advancing more rapidly than had been prophesied by even the most optimistic. Mr. Sherer referred to the sanitarium as being one of the institutions of the city that has made rapid advancement and that has served as a prominent factor in giving the city favorable publicity in all parts of the world. Mr. Sherer casually remarked that he does not consider himself a subject for the sanitarium at present, but he realizes that the time may come when he has amassed a fortune and retires from the active duties of life he may be pleased to become a patient at this institution and receive the careful attention that it is possible for them to give all who come within their walls.

Dr. George Thomason was announced to speak upon the subject of the "Evolution of the Sanitarium." He took up the early history of the sanitarium and explained that from year to year there had been an increasing demand for the work that these institutions are doing for the public's welfare. He said there is a growing demand for an honest diagnosis of the ills of humanity and the sanitarium and its supporters is supplying this need in a very satisfactory manner. Dr. Thomason intimated that it is less expensive and more satisfactory for a man to use some effort to remain in good health rather than to endure suffering and spend large amounts of money in an attempt to regain lost health.

The toastmaster introduced as the next speaker A. T. Cowan, who confined his remarks mainly to the benefits to be derived from treatments such as it is possible to receive in the Glendale sanitarium and stated that he greatly regretted that many people do not avail themselves of the benefits it is possible for them to get from those treatments. He spoke of the substantial business methods upon which the Glendale sanitarium is founded.

Dr. Wood-Comstock was the next speaker and she explained the nutritious values of the foods of the evening's menu as compared with the ordinary banquet served. She called attention to the carelessness of so many people in the observance of dietetic rules. She expressed herself as being greatly pleased with the evening's program and hoped she might be able to be present at other occasions of similar character in the future.

Mr. George B. Woodberry, another of the old settlers who has watched the growth of Glendale, was called upon to speak. Mr. Woodberry said that he had noticed that the Glendale sanitarium as an institution always believed in its own worthiness and he thinks that is one of the rea-

MAKING HISTORY

AL JENNINGS ATTRACTS MANY HUNDREDS TO LOCAL BAPTIST CHURCH

With many unable to find seats, many standing for over an hour in vestibules and on stairs, and others turned from the doors, the First Baptist church of this city made history Thursday night as Al Jennings, famous character, gifted author and lecturer, delivered his first temperance sermon. Strong men laughed and cried. The prophetic vision revealed old King Alcohol shivering on his throne. Hell was astir. The rustling wings of the better angels seemed audible. Not to have heard and seen what transpired at the local Baptist church Thursday night was to miss as rare an opportunity as ever came to ordinary mortals.

Glendale made history Thursday night. Not impossible is it that these few evenings will prove the brightest in the record of the cities of the encircling hills, and much now happening will be told and written the world around.

Crime and alcohol were associated in as convincing a manner as experience and logic can expose. Mr. Jennings knows whereof he speaks. But for booze he never would have been a bandit. But for booze he never would have run away from home. But for booze he never would have witnessed the murder of his poor brother, a deed which sent him forth to seek revenge on society. But for booze the penitentiaries would scarcely be needed. It is booze that sends men back to prison. The demon booze inflames the brain, bends the will toward destruction and hell and burns the soul to ashes. The little orator from Oklahoma proved his text from the blood-stained record of a tragic life. His text was Prov. 20:1—"Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise."

Tonight Mr. Jennings will speak on the deliverance of his own soul from bondage. The affliction of prison life will be told by the world's greatest master of the depths of human suffering and woe hidden behind the bars and walls of the high penitentiary.

Mrs. Jennings will witness her faith in the Lord Jesus and be obedient to the gospel in the old-fashioned way by being immersed by Pastor Troy. Mrs. Jennings' only regret was that she was not permitted to witness the conversion, confession and baptism of her gifted husband. It was all so sudden and unexpected. It will be Mr. Jennings' privilege to see his wife, who has been so great a helper and inspiration to him in his struggle to come back, give her heart to Christ.

Tickets sufficient to pack the auditorium have been distributed. Up to 7:30 all who have tickets will be entitled to a seat. At that time the entire church will be thrown open in all sections to the public. All who come early need not be anxious for a good seat. The time of commencing is 7:45. Mr. C. H. Cunningham will have charge of the music and Miss Maud Salisbury will preside at the piano. Brown and Curry songs will be sung.

Sunday morning there will be a reception of new members. Among those who will receive the hand of fellowship will be Mr. and Mrs. Jennings. At the evening service both Rev. Troy and Mr. Jennings will speak. Monday evening at the Bible Institute Mr. Jennings will receive as a gift from the First Baptist church and friends of Glendale and the Los Angeles Bible Institute a copy of the Bible. All who desire to attend had better see Mr. Troy.

At the noon hour Mr. Jennings will dine at the Los Angeles Bible Institute as the special guest of Dr. Horton and the officials of the well-known Bible college.

CALIFORNIA LEADS

In progressive reforms, California is taking the lead among the states. Some of these reforms have not been perfected. But we are on the road to permanent betterment along many lines—toward the achievement of the highest goal of a commonwealth in the matter of efficient government of, by and for the people, and the attainment of social justice in full and wholesome measure.

WOMAN'S HORIZON ENLARGED

The astonishing progress women are making in participating in the momentous affairs of the day—political, professional, commercial and educational—is not to be feared.

Women are not losing their womanliness by the broadening of their sphere of interests and activities. The race is the better for this enlarging of woman's horizon.

SCHOOL BUSINESS

SALARY SCHEDULE IS ADOPTED AND SUMMER SCHOOL PERMITS GRANTED

The board of city school trustees met in regular session Thursday evening at 7:30 with all members present.

The minutes of the previous meeting read and approved.

Mrs. Stephen Packer, Mrs. A. S. Chase and Mrs. Ella W. Richardson of the Pacific avenue school district were present and presented a petition signed by the patrons of that school requesting an additional teacher for that school for the coming year.

President Eckles in speaking for the board thanked them very much for the interest they were taking in the welfare of the school and assured them that their request would be granted provided the finances would permit, but as the board is handicapped in not knowing at this time the exact amount of money which they will have placed at their disposal, it is impossible to hire additional teachers at this time.

The salary schedule was tentatively adopted and is based on the previous experience of the teacher employed. The minimum rate was fixed at $600 per year and a uniform rate of $48 increase for each year of experience up to and including a maximum of eight years, this schedule to apply to all teachers except principals, supervisors and kindergarten teachers. The kindergarten teachers' salaries were placed at $720 per year.

The board also decided on paying the teachers' salaries in twelve equal installments.

A communication was received from County Superintendent Keppel in which he reverses his previous instructions on teachers' insurance and now advises that the insurance be taken out without delay. The matter was laid over until July 1st, when probably some action will be taken.

Communications were received from Ellis M. Tipton of the Colorado boulevard school and Miss Maybell Douglas of the Columbus avenue school requesting the privilege of conducting a summer term of school in the rooms in which they are now teaching. Their request was granted.

Besides the regular monthly salaries of the teachers, the following claims were allowed and ordered paid:

Cornwell & Kelty, $23.69.
Glendale Paint & Pr. Co., $19.09.
Bullock's, $3.75.
City of Glendale, $27.79.
Sunset Telephone Co., $11.15.
So. Cal. Gas Co., 40c.
Bosserman Hardware Co., $1.20.
Kingsley Dutton, $5.20.
S. A. Schilling Co., $10.53.
Glendale Laundry Co., $1.24.
Glendale Book Store, $1.58.

No further business, the board adjourned to meet on call of the president of the board.

BROTHERHOOD ENTERTAINS

The Brotherhood of the First M. E. church entertained the Baraca class Thursday evening at the church. After both organizations had held short business sessions they met and listened to a short program of music with Prof. Laichinger at the organ. This was followed by short addresses by Rev. J. N. Marsh, Ed M. Lee, C. D. Lusby and Wm. A. Goss. At the conclusion of the program all adjourned to the social hall, where refreshments of ice cream and home-made cake were served to about fifty men. After three cheers for the Baracas by the Brotherhood and three cheers for the Brotherhood by the Baracas, the parting came with the hope that the two organizations may soon hold another joint meeting.

P. I. C. HAS OUTING

Quite a pleasant party was that held by the P. I. C. of Glendale Presbyterian church at the home of Mrs. R. Gray, 425 Verdugo road, Wednesday afternoon. After the regular business had been dispatched, the party adjourned outside, where refreshments were served under the trees and pleasant games were played. Mr. B. McPherson, president of the society, presided.

Y. P. B. SOCIAL

Mrs. Sprinkle of 319 East Fifth street entertained the members of the Young People's Branch of the W. C. T. U. at her home Tuesday evening. Games were enjoyed during the first part of the evening, after which all adjourned to the garden and enjoyed an old-fashioned taffy pull. Those who were present are enthusiastic in praise of the entertainment accorded them.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, JUNE 4, 1915.

GLENDALE'S HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

By the initiative of a limited number of ladies and gentlemen Glendale is to have a Horticultural Society. It seems rather singular that Glendale should not have had such a society long ere now. This city is just the place where such a society might be expected to flourish, judging by the large number of beautiful gardens to be seen on every side.

Those who had the great pleasure of viewing the fine local exhibits at the recent flower show were astonished to hear that so much careful and skilled flower and fruit production had been possible without some local association of growers and producers; and it was generally agreed that where so much had been possible through individual effort alone, much more could be accomplished when those individuals should be brought together in profitable counsel.

As a matter of fact, although Glendale has many fine gardens, the city on the whole is far behind in the art of gardening. Waste ground is common and spreads weeds with every wind till those who would fain dwell "in an enchanted garden where no wind dare to stir unless on tiptoe," are disgusted and give up their plans if they do not even give up the city.

It is the object of a horticultural society to do away with such conditions. To begin with, its scope will be limited to encouraging the creation of gardens around private houses. The members of the society will meet at stated intervals to exchange views and to profit by each other's ideas and experience. It is more than likely that members will profit by the exchange of seeds, roots and slips. They do in other places. By such means as these Redlands has been made into one of the show places of California. While Glendale is a long way at present from being a Redlands, there is no reason for thinking that it can never be as beautiful. Some of the most barren lands in the world have been made to blossom as the rose simply by dint of cultivation.

At one time Scotland was a land of "brown heath and shaggy wood," a land of peat bog—a most forbidding black soil without nourishment of any description in its elements. Now, after some hundreds of years of patient and persevering cultivation, it is famous for its flower gardens and a great proportion of the park gardeners in the United States are Scotchmen; you will find them also in France and Germany and everywhere.

If so much can be accomplished in a land where natural conditions are most forbidding, Glendale could be made to rival the "gardens of Gul in their bloom." This has been called the Jewel City. It may doubly deserve its appellation when everywhere in its streets and avenues flowers, "the jewels of Paradise," are to be seen. Come out to the meeting next Tuesday evening, June 8, in the city council chamber.

FLATTERY AS A GREAT ART

Flattery is one of the oldest arts in the world. If we take the Garden of Eden as a convenient method of expressing a time when man had not attained to the complexity of civilization, but lived in simplicity and peace, we find that there the serpent introduced the art. It was by appealing to the self-conceit of Eve and also to her desire to become as a god that the artful tempter induced our lovely but easily flattered first mother to give the infant world a knock that nearly ruined everything.

Still flattery is an art of great usefulness when rightly put into action. It can pave the way for great results. It has reigned supreme in every age and has always been as popular in the beggars' Court of Miracles as in the palace of the king. It was not long in demonstrating itself stronger than the sword of the knight; and the flattering tongue of many a fair dame has made and unmade kings and courtiers and won and lost battles. Monarchs have given away many a rood and acre of fair land for the pleasant experience of being tickled with fair words and pleased with verbal blandishments. Ladies have often bestowed their love on the minstrel because he knew how to use sweet phrase in their honor; and learned cardinal has translated many a bishop to a fairer see because he understood the art of flattery better than others understood the Latin breviary.

In modern life it is ever the same. One man tries to get the entree into the world where favors are dispensed and fails; another slips in as easily as a saint through the pearly gates. Words rightly used are an "open sesame" to the kingdom of ease and luxury and their wise user "gets there" either directly or indirectly.

Perhaps the greatest business of ordinary men nowadays is that of salesman. Salesmanship as the art of business flattery is termed nowadays, is conducted on exactly the same principle as that by which the courtier of old bowed and scraped his way into the presence of the monarch. If a salesman wants to sell anyone anything, he prepares the way by what he technically calls an "approach" precisely as if he were playing golf. He learns never to contradict; otherwise the "prospect" is lost.

He learns to put himself in your place and to ask "how would I feel if someone were to ask me the question I have just asked this individual?" He becomes a past master in the art of skillful praise of his "prospect's" ideas; his quick acquiescence in the point of view of the man to whom he is trying to sell anything is evidence of long special training in his profession. This man is the modern successor of the ancient lightning-rod, washing machine and piano salesmen.

The old men were masters of an art just as the old Punch and Judy men were masters of an art; but the modern vaudeville artists or the moving picture hero or heroine is master of an art as much higher as the heavens are above the earth. Even the modern insurance man has at his fingers' ends an art very much higher than that possessed by his predecessor.

In the end, however, it is all flattery. It is practiced in business and in society. When taken along with appearance and dress it is likely to land its fortunate owner in first-class yacht parties and in the end to let him become known as the rich "Mrs. So-and-So's husband."

In just proportion flattery is a sweetener of life and makes things pleasant all round. It might well be cultivated by salesmen everywhere, whether in a dry goods store or in a government post-office. The world goes round all the easier when its cycle through the universe is smoothed by judicious "polish."

RUSSIA'S LATEST DEFEAT

If numbers could win battles, then Germany should have long ago defeated Britain, and France and Russia should long ago have overwhelmed Germany. In the beginning of Germany's terrific drive toward Paris, that country was able to throw against France twice as many troops as the republic had in the field and by the kaiser's special orders the troops sent against "General French's contemptible little army" outnumbered the Britons five to one; yet they could not break the British line.

Russia has, in similar manner, been able to throw millions upon millions against the Germans, but in vain. The German forces have always beaten them back. Even after Russia captured the fortress of Przemysl from the Austrians the Germans and Austrians massing one million men in another mighty drive have retaken the fortress—a feat which would have been remarkable had the defending troops been any other than Russian. Throughout the Russo-Japanese war Russia never won even a solitary, insignificant skirmish.

Of course Germany has an immense advantage over Russia in so far as for twenty-five years at least before the war she had been preparing for just such emergencies as these. Her network of strategic railways leading to the Russian border has enabled the kaiser to throw his troops from one point to another with the greatest ease and celerity.

Still it is not safe to say that Russia is beaten because the Germans and Austrians with 1,000,000 men have retaken Przemysl. There is an immense recuperative force in Russia and an unlimited number of men. Likewise the victory has cost both Germany and Austria dear. In any case it is too early to make any prophesy concerning the future of the war simply because Przemysl has been retaken.

IS YOUR CHARACTER O. K.?

Better for you to present some of the good points and features of the one under discussion if you do not want him to show up some of your bad points some day. You have them. Everybody has them. We are all human and the perfect man does not exist. Remember that the fellow who can pick the most flaws in a neighbor's character has usually the most flaws in his own.

Do not congratulate yourself that you have covered up your own faults. You may find that your neighbor knows more about you than you realize, and some of those little things which you think are not known outside of your own family may be even now common property of those on the other side of the fence.

Are you helping to circulate reports of the frailties of your neighbor? Perhaps you think that your deficiencies are not known, but are you sure that you are not as weak or peculiar as your neighbor? Are there not as many holes in your character as there are in his?

A free reading room is maintained by First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Glendale, at 415½ Brand boulevard, and is open daily, except Sundays and holidays, from 12 m. to 4 p. m., and on Friday evenings from 7:30 to 9:00. Christian Science literature may be read or purchased at this room. The public is cordially invited to visit the reading room.

Take your home for instance.

Of course you would like pictures of that, inside and out. Then step into our store and let us show you how easily you can make all the pictures you want of everything you care about, with a

"MAXWELL DAY" AT THE SAN DIEGO FAIR

Next Saturday, June 12th, will be observed as "Maxwell Day" at the San Diego exposition. The fair officials have set apart this special day when the whole scheme of entertainment and amusement will be centered around the Maxwell automobile. A Maxwell "25" touring car will be given away absolutely free by the management on that day.

There will be a Maxwell street parade at 1:30. The cars in the parade will not be decorated, but a prize will be awarded to the person riding in the parade who is dressed in the most suitable costume best representing the well-known fiction heroine, Ramona. The judging will take place at the conclusion of the parade at a point on the Alameda, the judges to be appointed by the San Diego Historical society, and the cars of all participants in the parade will be allowed to park on the tractor demonstration field inside the exposition grounds.

Automobile races will start at 3 o'clock, the final junior auto race for the capital prize of $100 being the principal speed event. This will be followed by an egg race, an egg-cracking contest and an obstacle race—all confined to Maxwell cars.

The egg race is a free-for-all so far as drivers is concerned. Each driver will be accompanied by a lady passenger who will endeavor to carry an egg held in a spoon while the driver starts the motor and proceeds to drive over 100 yards of road strewn with two-by-fours at irregular intervals.

In the egg-cracking contest the driver who succeeds in cracking an egg to the slightest extent by driving the machine up on a board where the egg has been placed will be the winner. The obstacle race will cover 200 yards and the course will be obstructed by barrels and other light obstacles which the driver will have to avoid. The final event of the afternoon will be a speed race of fifty yards from a standing start. Suitable prizes will be awarded for each event by various accessory houses.

Tickets on the Maxwell "25," which is to be given away, will be presented free with all admission tickets to the exposition grounds and the drawing will take place on the Isthmus at 9:30 in the evening. Mr. H. O. Davis, director-general, will pull from the box a ticket and the winning number will be announced immediately. In the event that the person holding the lucky number has left the grounds, announcements will be made through the newspapers.

The Lord Motor Car company, the Maxwell distributors for Southern California and Arizona, together with all of their sub-dealers in Southern California, have set June 12th apart as a Maxwell holiday and are getting up touring parties among their customers to drive to San Diego to enjoy this special day together at the exposition. The Los Angeles party will start next Friday at noon from Eleventh and Hope streets headed by the Maxwell touring car which has just completed its ten-day San Diego run. A service car will attend the party to look after punctures and to contribute assistance in any emergency.

Mr. Jno. A. Pirtle, the Maxwell agent in Glendale, will go with one car and take three passengers. Call and see him at Brand and Colorado.

A Cadillac Eight fully equipped stock seven-passenger touring car carrying four passengers, last night smashed all the existing records from Los Angeles to San Francisco. Starting at eight o'clock, the Cadillac beat the Lark, the Southern Pacific's fastest train, by one hour and thirty-five minutes; Cadillac time twelve hours and ten minutes, distance four hundred ninety-two miles. This is the greatest road record ever made anywhere and stands the Cadillac Eight as a marvel for power, endurance and reliability The car that made the record had already been previously driven seventeen thousand miles, and had been used as the Los Angeles demonstrator. The car arrived in perfect shape, no trouble whatever.

sons why the institution has been so great a success. He thinks likewise that the citizens of Glendale have cause to believe that their city is a worthy city and one of which they all should be proud and Glendale will become a great city in her class just to the extent that her citizens have faith in her greatness.

Others who spoke briefly and to the point on the subjects under discussion were J. W. Usilton, J. M. Banker and Mrs. E. S. Comstock, matron of the sanitarium.

During the banquet hour very pleasing music was furnished by Prof. Robert Sanders, violin, and Mrs. G. I. Bachmann, piano.

RAILROADS OF OUR COUNTRY

America holds her proud place among the nations of the earth today on account of her supremacy in transportation facilities. The mighty minds of the age are engaged in the problems of transportation, and the greatest men in the history of the world's commerce are at the head of the transportation systems of this country.

In the discussion of transportation, let us consider separately our railroads, telegraph and telephones, express, public highways, steamships, street railways, interurban and other forms of transportation.

The United States has the largest mileage, the best service, the cheapest rates, pays labor the highest wages, and we have the most efficiently managed of the railways of the world. They stand as a monument to the native genius of our marvelous builders, and most of the railroads in foreign countries have been built under American orders.

The railroads represent a larger investment of capital than any other branch of human activity. The mileage in the United States exceeds the accepted distance from the earth to the moon. We had in 1911, the last year in which figures for all countries are available, on the earth's surface 639,981 miles of railway, divided as follows: United States, 241,199; Europe, 207,432; the other countries, 191,350. The United States has 38 per cent of the world's mileage, seven per cent of the estimated population and about five per cent of the area. The total capital invested in the railways of the world is $50,000,000,000, divided as follows: United States, $13,000,000,000; Europe, $25,650,000,000, and other countries, $11,350,000,000; reduced to a mileage basis, the capitalization is as follows: The world $78,000, United States $54,000, Europe $124,000 and other countries $59,000.

A comparison of rates is equally as interesting and the United States takes the lead in economy and service. The average rate per ton per hundred mile haul is as follows: United States, 76c; Great Britain, $2.53; France, $1.44; Germany, $1.44; Russia, 92c; Austria-Hungary, $1.30; Italy, $2.30; Switzerland, $2.82.

The average yearly pay of all railroad employees in the principal countries is as follows: United States, $757; Germany, $392; Italy, $345; Austria, $322; Great Britain, $279; France, $260; Russia, $204.

About 30 per cent, or 188,000 miles, of the railways of the world are government owned. About one-half the railway mileage of Europe is government owned.

BROOKLETS

As between a dog poisoner and a dog, which is the "inferior animal?"

Persons who throw orange or banana peel on the sidewalks are either fools or criminals.

To try to settle a commercial dispute by a strike is as foolish as to try to settle a racial dispute by war. Violence never settles anything permanently.

Unfortunately, women often dislike men they respect, and love men they cannot esteem.

Almost daily we read of a suicide from ill health. How sad. And how unnecessary.

When a man dies "in spite of all that medical science could do," it means he has been stuffed and doped until Nature gave up the fight.

Why does God permit steeple houses to be struck by lightning more often than saloons? Probably because God works through natural laws.

People who pretend to understand and admire old masters and classical music are mostly humbugs.—Brain and Brawn.

CIGARETTE CURES

Cure of the cigarette habit is being undertaken on a large scale. The victim who desires relief attends a clinic, receives treatment and goes forth, apparently with his will-power miraculously restored. The simpler method of ceasing the consumption of cigarettes upon finding that indulgence is hurtful, is respectfully suggested. Anybody who yearns to stop smoking has only to stop. To confess an inability to do this is to confess mental weakness. However, if by having the palate educated by drugs to reject the presence of the fumes, the path to reform is cleared of obstacles, there is no occasion to object. Another system designed to be remedial has been adopted by statute. The smoker of cigarettes is to be barred from the schools. Expulsion is a severe penalty. A boy turned from the school into the street is not being sent into influences that will do him good. It may be he is being deprived of his chance to become a useful citizen. Interdiction of the practice, attended by penalty so harsh, will cause many a boy to learn to smoke just to show that he is independent. It will train him, at the same time, to lie out of the consequences. There must be a better way. For instance, there is parental admonition, and to be effective it ought to be on practical grounds rather than on high morality solely. Convince the boy that smoking is hurtful physically and mentally and he will refrain. The lad training for athletics willingly discards the little roll of weed. He is actuated to this by the proper pride that inspires the wish to excel. To arouse this pride ought to be the mission alike of parent and teacher.—Long Beach Telegram.

Baseball will not continue in popular favor if gambling be permitted in connection with the game.

TRAVELS OF THE SWALLOW

Poets sing of the lark, but the swallow, that harbinger of sunny days, is not less of a favorite. The swallow, Dalesman tells us in the Liverpool (England) Daily Post and Mercury, is the "most famed of migrants, for its travels extend to the Zambesi and Rhodesia commonly, while occasional birds get down to the Orange river colony and Natal in winter. Britain is the limit of this western stream of swallows, for the birds reported from northern Scandinavia get there by an eastern course, passing from Tripoli to Italy and thence through the Alpine passes to the German plain and beyond. The swallow passes its spring and autumn changes of plumage with us; all other migrants change here into winter dress and don their spring garb before leaving their winter haunts."

NOTHING DONE

Winter is too cold for work;
Freezin' weather makes me shirk.
Spring comes on and finds me wishin'
I could end my days a-fishin'.
Then in summer, when it's hot,
I say work kin go to pot.
Autumn days so calm and hazy,
Sorter makes me kinder lazy.
That's the way the seasons run,
Seems I can't git nothin' done.
—Lippincott's Magazine.

May not every man have opinions? Certainly. He who has not is a pretty poor stick. You have a right to yours, but it does not follow that those you have are infallible. Neither is it true that those of the other fellow, if they be at variance with yours, are necessarily wrong.

The report reaches us that a tailor's shop in Tokyo (Japan) has a sign in the window reading: "Respectable ladies and gentlemen may come here to have fits." Some accommodation, eh?

At any rate, there will be no formidable invasion of Europe this year by American tourists.
